INTRODUCTION.

---

THIS Concordance of the Septuagint is founded upon the Vatican text as usually printed, but gives the variations where the manuscript itself differs from the printed editions.

Various Readings from the Codices Alexandrinus, Sinaiticus, and Ephraemi are also given.

It has been judged best to base the Concordance on the above uncial manuscripts, independent of the Complutensian and other printed editions, which are really no authority as to the genuineness of a reading.

As the modern printed editions of the Septuagint are not quite uniform, and vary a great deal in marking the chapters and verses, it was necessary to follow some one Edition: that of Tischendorf (in two vols. 8vo. Leipsic) has been adopted. The Sixth Edition, 1880, has been used.

In some places Tischendorf gives in his margin two different figures for the same verse—one large and the other small—the large figures are invariably followed. It will be found that the small figures often point out the corresponding place in the Hebrew text, which is a very useful addition.

In a few places the chapter or verse is placed in ( ), either where Tischendorf so marked them, or where some irregularity occurs in the succession of the figures.

In some places lines are added in the text without any verse being attached: these are referred to either as post the verse that precedes, as 1 Kings 3 p 14; or ante the verse that follows, as Hosea 14 a 1. At 1 Kings 12 p 24 a section of some length follows, without any division into verses: here the line is also noted, and the reference stands thus—1 Ki. 12 p 24 l 25.

The various hands which corrected the manuscripts are for the most part noted as Tischendorf and Dr. Nestle (in his useful Appendix to Tischendorf's Edition) give them: as S<sup>1</sup>, S<sup>2</sup>, &c. Where corrections are given in the margin, or where the particular hand is not known, or the reading is in any other respect doubtful, they are marked with a * as S*. Where references are given as S<sup>2</sup> contra <sup>s</sup>, the reading of S<sup>2</sup> only is recorded, or the variation omitted altogether.

It has not been attempted to give the various readings where the variation is an inflexion of the same root-word ; the variations recorded are restricted to words belonging to different roots.

Variations are, with a few exceptions, recorded twice : once under the root of the word in the text, and once under the root introduced by the variation. Where the root-word occurs more than once in the verse, by referring to both entries it will be seen which word is altered.

A few readings are placed in ( ) where the word is doubtful.

Of some of the unimportant words and the numerals the various readings only are recorded. Pronouns, prepositions, &c., are omitted altogether.

The records of the various readings may, in many places, be regarded as an index to the alterations, rather than as giving the variation in full. Thus under σφάζω stands Exodus 29 : 11 — A ; but the Alexandrian manuscript omits the whole verse (the omission is recorded under all the important words in the verse). Again, under σκηνή stands Exodus 30 : 27 + B ; but there is added in the Vatican manuscript καὶ τὴν σκηνὴν τοῦ μαρτυρίου (words which are not found in that verse in the Vatican text as commonly printed, and as given by Tischendorf) : other words in the same verse are also transposed. In every case reference should be made to the text, to see the extent and precise nature of the variation.

An attempt was made to give the variations of the Proper Names, but these were found to be so very numerous, and so many of the variations unimportant, that this part of the work was abandoned.

An endeavour to refer the Greek words to the corresponding words in the Hebrew original, as is done in Tromm's Concordance, was also abandoned. It would have greatly confused the work, and the correspondence would often have been untrustworthy, as phrases could not have been given in so condensed a work. Hebrew Concordances are now easily available.

An attempt however, has been made to classify the words θεός and κύριος under the various Hebrew equivalents ; but the various readings are recorded only under the word in the Greek text.

Transpositions have not been recorded, even where a sentence is left out in one verse and added in another. Thus in 1 Kings 10 the lines which follow verse 22 are omitted by Codex A, but are included in verses 15–25, which it adds in chapter 9.

All reference to the Apocrypha has been omitted ; principally because it was judged that the Apocryphal books should never have a place with the Holy Scriptures. There was also the fact, that Tromm had not at all fully recorded the references to the Apocrypha. If given at all, they need to be dealt with entirely afresh, as we have done with the canonical books. If the present work is found to be useful, and the apocryphal parts are thought to be needed, any one so disposed can carry out that work.

An Appendix is added of words not found in the body of the work, giving readings from Origen's Hexapla and Uncial and Cursive Manuscripts: see page 266.

There are a few items of interest that need to be noted, which could not be inserted in the body of the work. For instance, the Alexandrian and Sinaitic Manuscripts give the Song of Songs divided, with the various speakers, &c. pointed out—additions which cannot be called various readings. Thus—

The above words added in the Codex Sinaiticus are all in red ink.

The following portions are wanting in the Alexandrian manuscript (A), and are not recorded as omissions under the respective words.

Genesis 14:14 to 17, perished.

15: 1 to 6, „

16 to 19, „

16: 6 to 10, „

Leviticus 6:19 to 23, omitted.

1 Samuel 12:17 to 14:9, wanting.

1 Kings 3: post 46, omitted.

Psalms 69:19 to 79:10, wanting.

In some places, the Alexandrian Codex inserts verses which are omitted in the Vatican. These are marked thus, 1 Samuel 17:12 A.

The Vatican manuscript commences at  $\pi\acute{o}\lambda\iota\nu$  εἰς γῆν, Genesis 46:28; is wanting in Psalms 105:26 to 137:6; and omits—

1 Samuel 17 12 to 31.

55 to 18:5.

18: 9 to 11; 17 to 19.

1 Kings 9:15 to 25.

1 Kings 11:23 to 25.

14: 1 to 20.

Nehemiah 12:14 to 21.

The Codex Sinaiticus, including the part formerly called Codex Frederico-Augustianus (S), contains the following portions of the Old Testament—

Genesis 23:19 to 24:46.

Numbers 5:27 to 7:20.

1 Chronicles 9:27 to 19:17.

Ezra 9: 9 to end.

Nehemiah.

Esther.

Job.

Psalms.

Proverbs.

Ecclesiastes.

Canticles.

Isaiah.

Jeremiah.

Lamentations to 2:20.

The Minor Prophets except Hosea,

Amos, and Micah.

The Codex Ephraemi (C) contains the following, but with many parts imperfect—

Job 2:12 to 4:12; 5:27 to 7:7;

10:9 to 12:2; 13:18 to 18:9;

19:27 to 22:14; 24:7 to

30:1; 31:6 to 35:16; 37:5

to 38:17; 40:20 to 42:17.

Proverbs 1:1 to 2:8; 15:29 to 17:1;

Proverbs 18:11 to 19:26; 22:17

to 23:25; 24:23 to 56; 26:23

to 28:2; 29:30, 31.

Ecclesiastes 1:1 to 14; 2:18 to 12:24.

Canticles 1:1 to 3:9.

A notice of any errors that may be discovered will be gladly received through the publisher, to be corrected should a second edition be called for.

It is hoped that all details have been sufficiently explained. The reader is again reminded that he must distinguish between the Vatican Codex as printed (on which the Concordance is based), and the Manuscript of the Codex, which, where it differs from the text as commonly printed, is marked herein as B.

Many thanks are given to those friends who have aided by their counsel and in other ways.

That the work, notwithstanding its condensed character, may, under Divine blessing, be useful in the study of the Holy Scriptures, is the hope of the compiler, and to GOD be all the praise and the glory.

G. M.
